NEW WAGE-PRICE PLAN TO SPEED END OF STEEL STRIKE

LEVANT ISSUE IS TACKLED BY UNO COUNCIL

Great Britain and France Are Accused of "Grave Attack on Sovereignty" of State

TROOPS ARE A MENACE

By JOHN A. PARRIS

London, Feb. 15.—(P)—Lebanon accused Great Britain and France today of "a grave attack on the sovereignty" of the "independent states and demanded the "immediate and simultaneous evacuation" of all foreign troops from Lebanese soil.

Foreign Minister Hamid Bey Fargh of Lebanon opened the debate on Syria-Lebanese charges against Britain and France, an issue which forced the Security Council to remain in London as delegates to the first general assembly departed for home.

He told the 11-nation agency that the presence of British and French troops constitutes "a permanent menace of meddling in the internal affairs of a member of the UNO," and declared that their presence is "not dictated by military necessity, nor by agreement of the governments, nor by international law."

France was followed by Syrian delegate Faris Bey El Khouri, who told the council that since the end of the war "we have made constant representations for the simultaneous withdrawal" of British and French troops "but we waited in vain."

He pointed out that the British withdrawal of December, 1945, for withdrawal of their forces provided for "the maintenance in the event of sufficient forces to guarantee security until such time as the United Nations Organization has decided on the organization of collective security in this area."

The 18-nation Economic and Social Council, remaining behind the Security Council, also was scheduled to meet today to complete its organizational tasks for tackling what world statesmen have described as the "basic ills" leading to war.

The general assembly adjourned last night on a note of optimism, with delegates expressing belief that a firm foundation had been laid for world peace and security.

They agreed that the new organization had made tremendous strides toward the success which the League of Nations failed to attain in its turbulent career.

It will stand in adjournment until September, when it convenes in New York City, which was approved by the final session of the assembly as the temporary home of the UNO.

The assembly also approved the Westchester-Fairfield area of New York and Connecticut as the permanent seat.

One of the last actions of the assembly delegates was approval of a resolution calling upon member states to take steps to prevent the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—President Truman turned today to his favorite school of diplomacy—the military—to fill one of this country's toughest foreign posts—named Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith as ambassador to Russia.

The 51-year-old general, who rose through the ranks to become General Eisenhower's chief of staff in the tense war years, will succeed Major Gen. W. Averell Harriman.

In picking Smith for the important Soviet post, Mr. Truman appeared bent on a diplomatic policy of delivering United States news to foreign governments in plain-spoken language of an army communiqué—and by a man trained to weigh American production and military might into the spot decisions.

Charge Yukon Crew With Negligence

(NEA Telephone) Mrs. Vivian Sherin and five-year-old daughter, Mike, survivors of the wrecked SS Yukon, are shown leaving gangplank of rescue ship SS Alaska at Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Sherin said her husband has been appointed to find a lawyer to represent passengers who charge the Yukon's crew was drunk and negligent at time of wreck and looted passengers' luggage after ship went on rocks.

Leaders of Major Parties Delay Agreements On Slate

Harrisburg, Feb. 15.—(P)—Agreements on 1946 slates were put off today by both Republican and Democratic leaders in the interest of harmony.

M. Harvey Taylor, state GOP chairman, speaking for top Republican leaders, after an hour-long meeting, said action was deferred for a short time because the committee felt "it would be impossible to come to a harmonious agreement upon candidates."

There is a long list of potential Republican candidates for governor, while Governor Martin, who headed party pleas to run for the U. S. senate, may also face a contest.

Former U. S. Senator James J. Davis has been reported considering a come-back, although he has declined to comment on his plans.

Taylor, asked about some reports that Governor Martin had been asked to suggest a candidate for governor but refused, said there isn't a word of truth in that. Taylor said he did not know when the committee will meet again.

Martin attended the committee's luncheon but did not stay for the conference that followed. He also declined comment.

Democratic leaders, on the other hand, delayed any decisions until Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh and John J. Kane, Allegheny county commissioner, can attend. State Chairman J. Warren Mickle said the group would meet February 22.

Democratic leaders privately said the delay will permit Philadelphia chieftains to obtain a final answer from Dean Earl G. Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, favored by some for the gubernatorial nomination. The Philadelphia delegation held off pressing his candidacy in the meantime.

Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, of Lancaster, state vice chairman, again urged the candidacy of Federal Judge Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster county while friends of Auditor General G. Harold Wagner and State Sen. John S. Rice of Adams county called for a candidate from an interior county.

State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black supported Rice.

Mickle said so far there has been no discussion of candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. State Sen. John H. Dent of Westmoreland county already is circulating petitions for the former place.

otion would be intensified with the end of the war.

"Peace will mean we will have to conduct colonization of an even grander scale than today," he told a Nazi police conference May 30, 1940, the document said, in the course of a description of his vast program for killing every Pole except those needed as slaves for the new German landlords taking over Polish lands.

Frank sat impassively in the prisoners' box staring at the floor as prosecutor L. N. Simirnov read to the tribunal extracts from Franks' diary, relating his declaration to the police conference that the great extermination should be pressed relentlessly "so that the Polish army may no longer rise."

TIME SET TO END HEARINGS ON JAP RAID

Chairman Barkley Says Committee Has Agreed To End Public Probe Next Wednesday

WILL PREPARE REPORT

BULLETIN

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Without dissent, the senate and house today adopted a resolution extending the deadline for ending the Pearl Harbor investigation to June 1. The house acted without discussion a few minutes after receiving the resolution from the senate. Senator Barkley (D-Ky) told the senate it was "the wish, hope and purpose" of the senate-house inquiry committee not to ask any further extension of time. Previously, congress had fixed today as the deadline. The Democratic leader said that "every effort" was being made to end the hearings next Wednesday night.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) said today the senate-house committee investigating Pearl Harbor had agreed unanimously to end public hearings "not later than next Wednesday night."

Barkley told reporters after an executive meeting that this agreement is based on "the situation as far as we can now see."

The committee decided, however, to ask congress for an extension of its life until June 1. Barkley said this also would include time for preparation of a report on responsibility for the Dec. 7, 1941, disaster at Pearl Harbor.

Barkley said that it may be necessary after next Wednesday to hear some other witnesses beyond those now on the scheduled list. But, he added, this would be only to "fill in" any gaps brought to the attention of the committee.

The inquiry, which began Nov. 15, was enlivened by a wordy row today after Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) asserted that Col. R. S. Bratton had "sworn to a falsehood."

Bratton was recalled for questioning by Keefe on why he changed previous testimony about the delivery of intercepted Japanese messages to Washington officials on the eve of Pearl Harbor.

Bratton said that his present recollection is that he did not have anyone deliver to Gen. George C. Marshall in that evening any parts of the intercepted Japanese message breaking off diplomatic negotiations here.

The message was made up of parts, of which 14 were intercepted and decoded Dec. 6, 1941.

Bratton, then in the intelligence section, had said in an affidavit (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Appointments Announced By Bishop Gannon

Erie, Feb. 15.—(P)—Bishop John Mark Gannon of the Erie Catholic diocese today named the Rev. John M. Gannon, his nephew, chancellor of the diocese, and announced a number of pastoral appointments.

The Rev. Gannon is to succeed Msgr. C. R. McQuillan, who will become pastor of St. Joseph's church, Sharon.

The new chancellor is the youngest in the history of the diocese.

The Very Rev. James F. Murray, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Sharon, was appointed dean of the Shenango district. Msgr. Francis J. Wagner, who has been pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, Brosville, for 38 years, was named a member of the board of consultants for the diocese.

Appointments of the dean and consultant fill vacancies created by the death of Msgr. August Hoelting last year.

St. John's Parish, Erie, is to have as its new pastor the Rev. Charles J. Liebel of St. Raphael's church, Eldred. He will be succeeded at Eldred by the Rev. John Harland Davis, a former protestant and a native of Kane.

The Rev. Davis entered military service from Sharon three years ago, and served as a chaplain in the China-Burma-India theater.

Other appointments include the Reverend Raymond O. Meier, assistant pastor at Sacred Heart church, Erie; Joseph T. Barry, professor at Villa Maria College, Erie, and the first resident chaplain of the Villa Marie convent there; Anthony J. Nowakowski, Callisus church, Kane; Francis G. McCullough, assistant pastor at St. Catherine's church DuBois; Geno Monti, assistant pastor at DuBois, to St. Anthony's church, Farrell.

Half Dozen Possibilities Are Considered For Appointment As Secretary of the Interior

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—President Truman was reported today deliberating over a half dozen possible appointees for secretary of interior, with Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) strongly backed by Capitol Hill friends.

Mutual friends of the president and O'Mahoney said the Wyoming senator's name was high on the list, but added that Mr. Truman seemed undecided whether O'Mahoney would be of more service to the administration in the cabinet or in the senate.

Should O'Mahoney be chosen for the post, the expectation here is that Wyoming's Gov. Lester C. Hunt either would succeed him immediately or become a candidate for the senatorial nomination at stake in the state this year.

Hunt was one of two Democrats to unseat Republican gubernatorial incumbents in the 1942 elections.

But if the president turns away from the senate to fill the job that Harold L. Ickes resigned as ex-plosively, one presidential adviser said it is possible that Justice William O. Douglas might be asked to leave the supreme court to take over.

All sorts of switches in his official family were reported to have been suggested to the president, who saw several senators and house members about the matter yesterday.

There in a position to know said there had been discussion of a possible switch of Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach to the interior spot, but they represented Mr. Truman as indicating that it would be a difficult problem for him to fill the labor post.

Senator Mitchell (D-Wash) told a reporter he hopes Schwellenbach can be transferred, but has not yet had a chance to make that suggestion to Mr. Truman.

Also discussed, legislators said, was the possibility that if Douglas were named, Schwellenbach might be chosen for the resulting court vacancy.

Another cabinet change said to have been talked about at the White House involved transfer of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson to interior, with a middle westerner named to succeed the former New Mexico representative.

Meanwhile, there was no apparent break in the determination of supporters of Edwin W. Pauley to push to a showdown his fight for confirmation as undersecretary of the navy.

Volunteers Man Lancaster Busses

Lancaster, Feb. 15.—(P)—Transit strikers huddled together in freezing weather today as 27 Conestoga Transportation Company busses renewed operation without interference following a mass meeting in which townspeople were asked to join picket lines.

Fifty-seven volunteers brought the vehicles out of car barns under heavy police guard for the ninth straight day of the strike. There were some 50 pickets at plant gates with an equal number of spectators including a few women.

At a mass meeting last night called by the Central Labor Union, made up of 22 labor locals, A. H. Keeler, national executive board member and international representative of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), urged the townspeople to join the 200 striking employees in picketing.

The assembly, presided over by Miles Messerman, acting president of the CLU, passed a resolution to insist on a settlement of the dispute. Catter said he could not appear at the meeting because of duties he has assumed during the illness of Mayor Dale E. Carey.

These are included in an overall pool of men between 18 and 25 inclusive who for various reasons had been turned down for the draft.

By this drastic means the war department said it was hoped to obtain 250,000 men through the draft during the first five months (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Kane Dog Gives Life In Fight To Save Tot From Savage Lion

Kane, Feb. 15.—(P)—This mountain community sorrowfully mourned a new hero today—a mongrel dog that sacrificed its own life to save its four-year-old master from a great, savage lion.

Young Claude Mollander, Jr., was safe, unscathed after his face to face encounter with the fierce beast. But he mourned the loss of his beloved playmate, whose spunky fight held off an attacker three times its size until Claude reached safety.

The 150-pound pup was slain, later by a state policeman who had to resort to a service pistol because his high-powered rifle jammed.

Claude and his big dog were romping near the boy's home yesterday when the mountain lion, which officers said escaped from a private zoo, appeared.

The lad's screams at his door brought his family in time to witness the end of the battle between

OPA ADMINISTRATOR BOWLES NAMED DIRECTOR OF OFFICE OF ECONOMIC STABILIZATION

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Official Washington confidently expected a steel strike settlement today as a swift follow-up to President Truman's higher wage-price line and his choice of Chester Bowles to hold it.

Providing price increases for industry to cover government-approved wage hikes, the new reconversion formula, a White House spokesman said, supplies the basis for ending the walk-out of 750,000 CIO-United Steelworkers—largest single strike in American history.

Other high officials said approval of a steel price boost of approximately $5 a ton would be a factor in the settlement.

Aides said that when Mr. Truman turned loose the long-awaited policy change late last night, he also counted on making a simultaneous announcement that the steel strike was over. However, he was disappointed by U. S. Steel and CIO negotiators, who were reported close to agreement in a late session, but still short of bridging the final gap.

The president said the new policy was designed to cope with a reconversion situation in which "vitality needed production is lagging" and collective bargaining "has broken down" in many key industries.

It calls for these broad changes in the nation's approach to the wage-price question:

1. Wage increases must be approved by the national wage stabilization board. And this board must see that they do not exceed the pattern of pay boosts in any industry or area since V-J—about 16 to 18 per cent.

2. Higher price ceilings will be granted manufacturers immediately—instead of after six months—to insure profitable operation after an approved wage increase is granted.

3. OPA Administrator Bowles becomes director of the re-created Office of Economic Stabilization and is charged with laying down the specific rules for the new policy.

4. Paul A. Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission and a staunch hold-the-line man, steps into Bowles' OPA shoes.

5. The wartime OES is revived to replace the Office of Stabilization (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Requirements For Draftees Are Lowered

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Selective Service headquarters today directed local boards to comb their lists of 4-F's and other deferred classes to get men for limited military service.

The action was taken at the request of the army which lowered its physical standards for draftees to an "absolute minimum" and called on Selective Service to meet its full quotas and make up an accumulated deficit of 75,000 men.

Selective Service officials said that through state headquarters, the local boards were directed specifically to review:

1. The records of men classified as 4-F or previously rejected for military service; 2. Class 2-AL, men who if not deferred because of their occupation would be classed 4-F; and class 2-CL, farm workers who otherwise would be classed 4-F.

These are included in an overall pool of men between 18 and 25 inclusive who for various reasons had been turned down for the draft.

By this drastic means the war department said it was hoped to obtain 250,000 men through the draft during the first five months (Turn to Page Thirteen)

PEDESTRIAN KILLED BY SKIDDING AUTO

Johnstown, Feb. 15.—(P)—Deputy Coroner Andrew Stropko said John Ellenberger, 66, of Johnstown RD 2, was killed last night when he was struck by the rear bumper of a skidding car and dragged across an icy highway.

Stropko said the driver, 20-year-old girl, said she saw the pedestrian and turned out to avoid striking him but could not keep the car from going into a skid and spinning around in the road.

The other two Americans were strangled in a like manner at almost the same time. Then the corpses were put into furnaces.

Chinese previously testified the fliers—2nd Lt. Lester R. White, Slickville, Pa., and Sgts. Henry Wheaton, Milwaukee and James E. Forbes, Jr., East Hartford, Conn.—were not dead when cremated.

Funi said "the fliers were laid down and the cords with which their hands were tied were coiled around their necks. I then assisted in the case of one prisoner by pulling one end of the cord. When it was confirmed that his respiration had ceased I released the cord."

The other two Americans were strangled in a like manner at almost the same time. Then the corpses were put into furnaces.

Program For Grade School Pupils' Party

A Valentine party for the grade school pupils of Warren will be held in Beatty school, tomorrow afternoon, from two to four o'clock, with games in the gymnasium, and a show in the auditorium. Refreshments also will be sold.

Teresa Fino, representing the committee on community recreation, is in charge of the program, which is being prepared under the direction of parents and teachers, with each school providing an act for the show. The party is sponsored by the Community Council, FTA.

All but Home Street and Johnson schools have announced the numbers they will present as a part of the show. Seneca school will present Mary Morse in a toe dance, and Sally Nelson in a tap routine. East Street's act will include a dance by Marlene Johnson and a vocal number by Patricia Larson.

Lacy school will feature Martha Ann Edwards in a song and dance act. South Street's Valentine skit already has been described in this paper. McClintock will present a musical number.

Senior Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mrs. A. N. Correll, will have charge of the games in the gymnasium. The refreshments will be on sale in the gym.

A committee under the direction of Mrs. Walter Pearson and Betty Lou Hook will meet in Beatty school, at ten o'clock, tomorrow morning, to decorate the gymnasium in preparation of the community event. The committee stresses that the party starts at two o'clock, and lasts until four. The time appearing on window cards is incorrect.

Corry Firm Is Sending More Machines Here

The Zalneck brothers of Corry today were lending a portion of their heavy truck equipment to Starbrick, where another phase of the big Pennsylvania Electric Company's power station development was to get under way of the developing billiard did not call a halt on operations.

The Keystone Construction Company of Meadville has a contract for a 15 foot excavation for one of the main buildings of the new $4,000,000 power development. This excavation will later be continued down for a depth of thirty feet but the first contract calls only for the top 15 feet of earth removal. All available equipment is being leased for the job, with operators, in addition to that of the Keystone Company.

The Corry firm also has considerable work to complete on its general rough grading contract at the site, one of the first pieces of work awarded in connection with the big construction project. Winter conditions have held up this and other portions but the equipment was being moved back to the site today and advantage will be taken of every break which the weather may offer. By late spring one of the largest jobs of its kind ever undertaken in this district will be under way at the nearby property along Route 6.

County Motor Club Board Holds Meeting

A steady increase in the membership of the Warren County Motor Club was reported at the February meeting of the board of governors held at the Blue and White last evening. Additions reported during the month brought the present total up to $85, and it was predicted that the thousand mark would be reached by the next meeting.

A committee with Homer Bowersox as chairman, was named to draw up resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Edward T. Beck, who had been on the board

Skaters From Carrol Show at Outing Club

Despite the chill winds and the dropping mercury the crowds at the Marconi Outing Club over the weekend will be warm and cozy as the management has turned up the gas and has booked one of the hottest shows the folks have ever been offered.

Lynn and Lana Bauer will be one of the heat waves with their skating act. This clever pair have just closed an engagement with the famous Earl Carroll show and on their composition rollers do some feats that hold the crowd spellbound. Beautifully costumed and grace personified the couple present an extremely high class act.

Jack O'Neill one of those birds possessed of a voice much like that of the famed Fritz Emmett, Irish sensation of years ago, will have a rich in the program. He will present some ballads and current numbers in a way that will make the folks ask for more.

Dave Barnum and Dianne will conclude the bill. Barnum is a clever Emcee and with Dianne as a foil keep the crowd roaring. Incidentally they present a dancing number that is out of the ordinary.

Attendance at the club already has the management preparing plans and discussing ways and means for increasing the seating capacity. The only night spot in this section presenting a high class show, residents of surrounding towns are attending in large numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Loece entertained at a dinner party Tuesday night in honor of Major Laurence Scott and wife. Other guests were Lucy Scott and Miss Mary Hamilton. ## A. P. Correspondent Finds Way to Foil Jap Pickpockets

By JAMES HUTCHESON
(For Hal Boyle)

Hong Kong—(P)—An ominous "beware of pickpockets" warning greets Hong Kong visitors at every pier, in tramcars and in public gathering places. You can't say the police didn't warn you.

But street urchins have developed the ancient art to a new level. The fraternity still has lone wolves who depend on a quiet approach, a flip of a dexterous wrist and a stealthy getaway. That's one idea which got $11,000 from ferry passengers' pockets a couple of days ago.

But they're old-fashioned operators who probably won't admit that the atomic era has sunk the potentialities of individual effort to an all time low.

With an eye to modernization, the younger generation of snatchers has adopted the wolfpack system. In its elemental form it has brought to the pocket picking profession that the "T" formation brought to foot-all—deception, a hard-charging offensive and a quick breakaway.

Hal Boyle, AP correspondent, who has coped with the most resourceful pickpockets from St.

Louis to Saigon, concedes with the eye of a perfectionist that the boys are good but holds to the theory that for every new offensive a defense can be evolved. That's how he saved his wallet through three separate raids by a wolfpack of half a dozen along one crowded street.

Here's a Boylesey view of how a pickpocket gang operates:

There is a milling crowd around the money changer booth when the customer steps up to have a hundred dollar note changed into local currency. The lookouts spot a bulging roll. As he steps into the jostling crowd on the sidewalk, the snatch gang moves in. One bumps him on the flank. Another jostles him from the other side and a third from behind. Someone brushes close in front. That's when a hand darts for pen or wallet.

But it didn't work with Boyle. His pen was half out of his pocket when he suddenly recognized the tactics and broke into the open with elbows swinging.

In the congestion a half block further along the milling market place they moved in again. This time it resembled a combined end around play and line plunge. With a hweep of his arms he sent a pair of them tottering in surprise and a quick sidestep let another walk straight through the line—without a score.

He entered a store. The gang stuck. Two squatted at the window like jackals, keeping their eye on the quarry inside. A couple of others sat on the curb trying to look disinterested. They ranged in age from about 12 to 18, all dressed in Chinese jackets buttoned tight to the throat.

As their prospect emerged, they deployed to the sidewalk and street like undercover men, assuming innocent expressions. They kept up the pursuit even after he turned, pointed at them with a grin and told them to scam, "chah la."

Unabashed, a couple of them just grinned back impishly.

They trailed until almost abreast of the patrolman outside the hotel. They looked as though they had lost an old friend as they turned back to look for another less cagey prospect. It was almost a game and petty criminals are playing the game roughly this season hereabouts.

Under Fire

U. S.-Argentina relations became highly critical with the publication by the State Department of a 32,000-word indictment of the South American country, charging it with providing a safe base from which Nazis are planning a comeback. Singled out as a leader of the alleged pro-Nazi conspiracy was Col. Juan D. Peron, above, "strong man" of the present Argentinian regime.

NOTICE

No. 56 March Term, 1946
In the Court of Common Pleas of Warren County, Pennsylvania.
To William Underwood, or his legal representative, or whoever may be the holder or holders of the mortgage hereinafter mentioned.

Take notice, that on January 26, 1946 Ina Schobey presented her petition setting forth that she is the owner of a certain parcel of land situate in Lot No. 270, Sherfield Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, containing one acre, and being fully described in said mortgage; that an unsatisfied mortgage upon said premises remains of record in the Recorder's Office of said Warren County, given by William Bloss and Bessie Bloss, his wife to the said William Underwood, dated March 29, 1898 and recorded in said Recorder's Office in Mortgage Book 23, page 246, and securing the payment of $3000 and interest; that a period of more than twenty-one years has elapsed since said mortgage became due and payable, and that no payment to apply thereon has been made within said period, and praying for satisfaction thereof.

Whereupon, said Court ordered this notice served upon the parties first above mentioned, requiring them to appear in said Court on March 7, 1946 at 10 o'clock, A. M. to answer said petition, and to show cause why the proper decree should not be granted, and said mortgage satisfied.

NEW WAGE-PRICE FORMULA

American industry will get speedier price help under the government's new stabilization formula, as outlined in a press dispatch today, but it imposes stern wage controls in an effort to head off inflation, according to Marvin L. Arrowsmith in a special article written for The Associated Press and the Times-Mirror.

The revised wage-price policy provides that in general pay hikes must be federally approved if they are to qualify as a basis for offsetting price increases.

The formula also stipulates that, in order to win approval, wage or salary boosts must be within the general pattern established in individual industries or local areas since the end of the war.

In many cases these increases have ranged from around 15 to 18 per cent.

To the worker, all this means that collective bargaining will go on pretty much as usual, but there will be a top limit on how much more pay he can hope to get—in most cases within this 15 to 18 per cent range.

As for industry, heretofore only a small part of such pay increases could be used as the basis for asking immediate price relief. Companies had to wait six months before applying for higher prices to offset the lion's share of any major wage jump.

Now their six-month wait is out. If OPA finds that a pay boost approved by the Wage Stabilization Board confronts an industry—or, in some cases, an individual firm—with financial hardship, OPA must "promptly provide" higher price ceilings.

For industries or companies which will not be in full production for some time, the immediate price increase must be large enough to assure a full year's profit equal to its average earnings during a pre-war period. In virtually all industries this base is 1936-39.

The immediate price increase will be smaller for the companies which are operating at a "temporary low volume." In other words, where OPA decides greater production and lower costs are imminent, it will authorize a price increase large enough to assure "profitable operation," but shy of the 1936-39 average.

In providing this, the government's position is that an immediate increase to the pre-war earning rate eventually might push such firms over the pre-war profit level.

Wage controls of the double-barreled formula are considerably tighter than those previously in existence.

IT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

Most of us can remember when they sold bananas by the dozen. Then someone realized that the stalk was waste and we bought bananas by the pound, the cost of the stalk being absorbed in the retail price.

Now the OPA comes up with a new wrinkle, ostensibly designed to keep the price of citrus from skyrocketing. If you want lemons, oranges or grapefruit, you would buy them at so much per pound.

Once was a time when such fruit was graded and sold by the dozen according to size. It appears those days gone—we hope not forever.

True, the order would cut the prices of citrus fruit, but it sort of rankles us to see the grocer go to all the extra work of placing lemons, oranges and grapefruit on a scale before he can tell us how much we owe him.

The whole directive seems silly. It makes for extra work and figuring for the grocer and delay in service to the customer. Couldn't it have been solved by just reducing the price per dozen?

Perhaps that move was too obvious and simple for the tired economists in the Washington office of the OPA.

Officials of the Y. M. C. A. are to be commended for the excellent progress made in getting the gymnasium in condition for renewal of activities.

Dollar Day bargains prevail in many Warren stores tonight and all day tomorrow. Don't pass them up because of the low temperature.

After the hurried rush of a busy week, save a place for the quiet and sincere worship in church on Sunday.

The average Warren man doesn't stare at women's clothes—unless women are in them.

Tough weather o nour feathered friends. Better put out a few morsels in some sheltered spot.

Not very good weather for folks who are inclined to scoff at the groundhog legend.

Well, Well, February's on the last lap!

Service Men Honored Guests At St. Paul's Son-Dad Banquet

It was deemed fitting that the St. Paul's annual father and son banquet should be held on the 137th anniversary of the martyred President Lincoln and that honor guests should be 21 returned service men of the church, a portion of the 75 men and four women helpfully serving their country through the armed services.

Five fine St. Paul's young men have paid the supreme sacrifice, Martin Carlson, Edwin Seagist, Gordon Sasser, Herbert Davis and Edwin Anderson. These represent about seven per cent of the men on the church's honor roll, a higher figure than that of the county as a whole and of many community groups.

The banquet has another distinguished feature, the thoroughness exercised in preparation of each number and the sincerity evidenced in each presentation.

Musical numbers consisted of two male quartet selections, sung by Sam Davis, Franklin Burman, Nore Gustafson and Reynolds Rydgren; two trumpet duets by Kenneth Lundahl and Dean Swanson; three vocal numbers by Everett Borg, all appropriate and excellently done.

Allen Anderson, in his Toast to Fathers, challenged the Dads in the statement "every lad's ideal is his dad." In his response to the sons, Robert Swanson, in turn challenged the lads to stay alive, to let no blunders keep them down, but to rise again to become still finer, more alive young men after conquering the unpleasant experience.

The guest speaker, Rev. C. A. Leslie, of Kane, appropriately associated the gathering of dads and lads with the Scouting anniversary being observed this week, relating how perfectly the philosophy and ideals of Abraham Lincoln were a part of Scouting, especially the habit of putting God first in every Scout or other activity. Repeatedly the speaker stressed the fact that Christian principles and the Law of Scouting require "Love of God with all our mind and heart and soul, and love of our fellow-men, which must be followed by helpful, constructive action and assistance to anyone needing what we can contribute."

Ned Johnson proved a capable toastmaster for the banquet and Hilmar Roos was in charge of decorations. Rev. Gustafson in his remarks thanked all who had contributed to the fine event and asked for the cooperation of every member in the task of entertaining the New York Conference and celebrating St. Paul's 75th anniversary.

A score or more of the church's men and women labored diligently to prepare the appetizing and substantial dinner, with the following serving as the general committee: J. F. Anderson, Carl Lundahl, Edwin Carlson, G. R. Miller and G. L. Carlson.

Basketball Dance
Will Follow Game
At Beatty Tonight

A basketball dance, following the last home game of the season for the fast traveling Warren high school team, will be held this evening in Beatty gym, with the orchestra of Bill Dobbs providing the music.

The dance should start about ten o'clock, and will end in time for the dancers to get out of the school by midnight. It will be open to teen agers and young people in their early twenties.

The dance is planned by the Committee on Community Recreation and sponsored by the Community Council PTA, with Georgia Spinnery and Charles Cochener acting as co-chairmen.

Ray Reed has charge of the set-up for the evening, and the lights will be handled by Mike D'Angelo and Larry Scialise.

Adele Erickson and Elizabeth Bathurst are co-chairmen of the check-room committee, which includes Naomi Snyder, Jean Sellers, Helen Kemp, Mary Mangus, Barbara Cochran, Mary Wendelboe, Jean Smith, Jeannine Mathyer, and Barbara Benson.

Co-chairmen for the clean-up committee are Lewis Lowe and Don White. They will be assisted by Dick Betts, Del Colter, Warren Lowe, Jack Kyler, Bob Birchard, Bill Taylor, John Tanner, Joe Waller, and Frank Shanshala.

SHOWER HONORS

Mrs. A. F. Flick entertained at her home, 12 Marrow street, on Wednesday evening with a miscellaneous shower which honored her niece, Margie Stuve, who will become the bride of Bob Rasmussen in the near future.

A delightful evening was spent playing games, with prizes going to Mrs. Paul Schwab, Mrs. Raymond Schwab and the honored guest. Following the games, a delicious luncheon was served at a table attractively set with Valentine decorations.

The bride-elect was given many lovely gifts for her future home by the following: Mrs. Max Schwab, Mrs. Paul Schwab, Mrs. Raymond Schwab, Mrs. Lee Dunham, Miss Delores Schwab, Mrs. George Hanson, Mrs. William Baldensperger, Mrs. Otto Flick, Mrs. Stanley Vallmont, Mrs. Henry Weis, Mrs. P. Flick, Mrs. Albert Schuman and the hostess.

ARE GUESTS FOR

FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. William Nugent entertained with a farewell party Wednesday evening for Mr. Nugent's sister, Mrs. Minna Jones, and grandson, Lyle Holbrook, of Columbus, O.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gorton and daughters, Phyllis and Barbara, Mrs. Gilbert Gorton and sons, Jay, Robert and Garnet, Mrs. Kenneth Lyle and daughter, Joanne, ad son, James, Junior Aurilla, Hugh Nugent, Mrs. Alice Baldwin and daughter, Janice, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malone, and the honored guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christensen will accompany Mrs. Jones and grandson on their return trip.

DEFOREST CLASS

A very enjoyable meeting of the Gerda DeForest Class of the First Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. F. Dunham, 20 St. Clair street.

Neil McCullough was in charge of devotions and Marie Chmberg conducted the Bible study. Following the business meeting, which concerned charitable projects in which the class is engaged, a social hour was held. Names of past and future "Sunshine Sisters" were distributed, and a committee composed of Dorothy Dunham and Frances Bartholomew served delicious refreshments. The absence of the teacher, Mrs. DeForest, and several members, was regretted.

BUSINESS INDEX

Pittsburgh, Feb. 15—(P)—The direct effects of the steel strike have spent themselves although indirect effects likely will still be felt if the walkout continues, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Pittsburgh said today. The bureau said its index of business activity stood at 110.4 per cent of the 1935-39 average last week as compared with 110.0 the week before. The index fell some 50 points the first week of the steel strike.

New Revised Version

Dr. Harold C. Warren, minister of the local First Presbyterian church, has just returned from Columbus, O., where he served as a Presbyterian delegate to the annual meeting of the International Council of Religious Education. An outstanding event at this conference on Monday evening was the presentation to Governor Harold Stassen, of Minnesota, who is president of the International Council, of the first copy of the new Revised Standard Version of the New Testament. This is the work of leading New Testament scholars of our time, and it is indicated that the revision of the Old Testament will be completed in 1950. Mr. Warren will tell on Sunday morning in First Presbyterian church something of this history-making event and of the new revision. He explains this retains as much as possible of the stately, time-honored and beloved King James version. At the same time, it corrects errors of translation and replaces certain archaic words of Elizabethan origin which have lost their original meaning. And, he says, it has the advantage of many more ancient and reliable Greek manuscripts than were available in the time of either the King James or the American Revised versions.

Will Be Party Guests

James P. Murray

Ruth Miller Steese

Two leading figures in the American Legion will be guests of Chief Complanter Post 135 on February 22nd when they arrive in Warren to help members of the Post and Auxiliary observe their annual George Washington's birthday dinner and party.

James P. Murray, department commander, of Forest City, and Dr. Ruth Miller Steese, of Mifflinburg, the department president, will be the two guests of honor. Other department and district officials of the Legion and Auxiliary will also attend the dinner, which will be held at the Y. W. C. A. at 6:30.

Commander Murray was unanimously elected to the office of department commander at the state convention held in Harrisburg last August. He is a native of Forest City, where he is a member of Forest City Post 524; also being active in the 418 and the Knights of Columbus. During World War I he served as a sergeant with Base Hospital III until the time of his discharge in June, 1919.

He has served as post commander, deputy district commander, chairman of membership and veterans preference committees as well as the Legion Junior baseball committee. He was department vice commander in 1940-41 and served as chairman of the department Americanization committee from 1943 to 1945.

Department president Ruth M. Steese brings to her office a background of long service to the American Legion Auxiliary, plus a distinguished career as an educator. She is a graduate of Irving College and Bucknell University and received honorary degrees from Susquehanna University; the only woman so honored. She was at one time assistant principal of the Mifflinburg High School and for many years on the faculty of Bucknell.

She became a charter member of Thomas H. Clapham Post 410 when it was organized in August, 1923. She served several years as unit president, also as its secretary-treasurer. After serving one term as state vice president she served for six years as state legislative chairman and two years as state membership chairman. During this period the organization reached an all-time high membership of 58,000; the largest department auxiliary in the history of the American Legion.

During World War II she became active in Red Cross work, serving with distinction in the Red Cross blood donor program and in the Women's Field Army for Cancer Control; heading the Union county unit. She is likewise active

ALLEN CLASS HAS

EXCELLENT PROGRAM
Dr. Jack Wolford, of the State Hospital staff, gave a very helpful talk on "Mental Hygiene and Cures For Mental Ills" at last night's meeting of the First Methodist Allen Class.

Mrs. Don Megahan conducted the devotional period and Mrs. F. G. Haines was program chairman. Mrs. Leon Laskaris headed the following refreshments committee: Mrs. Stuart Aberg, Mrs. George Hunter, Mrs. Willis B. Eby, Mrs. A. L. Stevens, Mrs. John Smallman, Mrs. Fred A. Schuler, Miss Florence Lund, Mrs. Gertrude Bainbridge. A collection was taken during the evening by the Project Fund committee.

SLEIGHRIDE TONIGHT

The Young Adults Group of First Presbyterian church seems to be having the cooperation of the Weather Man in its plans for a sleighride party tonight. The party gets under way when all meet at the church at eight o'clock and the committee promises "eats" as a feature of the program. (Just in case there is not enough snow to allow for sled runners, teams and wagons will be waiting at the church instead!)

BLUE STOCKING CLUB

Blue Stocking Club members will be entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Walker, with Mrs. Harriett Wilkins as assisting hostess, and Mrs. F. L. Plummer presenting the program.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD

What Endocrine can do to bless you with a younger looking face

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Scientific research has proved that ENDOCREME can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible.

Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL®. This ACTIVOL® is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance.

Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman young or old ask for her cosmetic dollars?

The great majority get big improvement in only 30 days.

TIDIOUTE

Tidioute, Feb. 12—Thirty-seven were present at the February meeting of the W. C. T. U. which met with Mrs. Gertrude Lawrence at her home Tuesday, Feb. 12th.

A delicious luncheon was served at 12:30 after which the business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. F. E. Knapp. Mrs. H. H. Lineman had charge of the devotionals. Dr. W. Prout gave a most interesting talk on the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. A. B. Chase spent several days in Harrisburg attending the meeting of the state school directors association.

Mt. Grange No. 1152 enjoyed a Valentine Party on Friday, Feb. 8 in Grange Hall. About 30 members attended. The lecturer's program consisted of music and the reading of the verses and greetings on the valentines. Some of which were original. The comics were well suited to those who received them. Refreshments consisted of coffee, doughnuts and candy.

Mrs. George Clinger has returned home from a visit with her daughter Winifred in New York City.

Mrs. Emma Kernick returned to her home here after a visit of several months with her daughter, Mrs. L. Stull at Connellsville, Pa.

Lieut. R. W. Kapp who has been stationed at Naval Hospital Palm Beach, Florida, has received orders for Bainbridge, Maryland. He and his family expect to take up their new quarters this week.

Mrs. J. L. Hunter of Warren was a business visitor in Tidioute Saturday.

Mr. J. R. Lodge returned home last Friday from the General Hospital in Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allen of Erie spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allen.

Mrs. J. W. Matie spent a few days in Warren visiting her daughter.

Mr. Jack Shields of Sharon spent Sunday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shields.

Miss Janet Schwab returned to her studies at Villa Maria College in Erie after spending the weekend with her parents.

3 SPADES OVER HEART BID ASKS FOR RAISE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

Some time ago I wrote a series explaining the "Fishbein Convention" for handling weak-two bids and pre-emptive three-bids. Today's hand came up at Harry Fishbein's own club, the Mayfair Bridge Club, New York.

South opened the bidding with three hearts, and West's bid of three spades was the "Fishbein Convention" asking his partner to bid. West could have made the same bid without a strong spade suit. In this convention, the overcall of a three-bid with the next higher ranking suit simply forces your partner to bid.

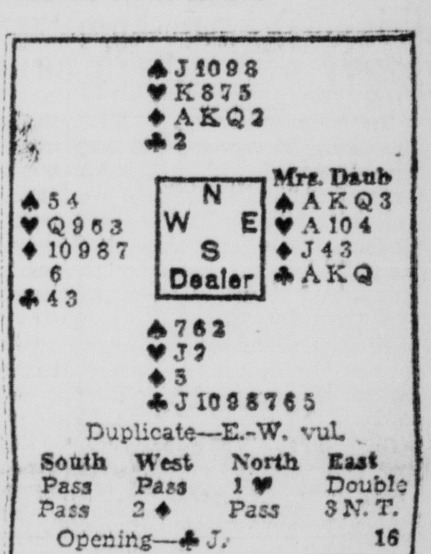

In this instance, East elected to pass, but Fishbein said he should not have passed; his correct response over three spades was four clubs, and West should then bid four spades. The hand is close to making six clubs, but if East elects to pass four spades, he and West will have the 100 honors to compensate for the loss in failing to bid a small slam.

If East's hand were a little stronger—if he held the king-queen of clubs, the jack of spades and queen of diamonds, for instance—he might easily bid five spades over four. West then would show the fit in clubs and they would arrive at a small slam in spades.

OPTIMISM OFTEN BRINGS IN A HAND

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

Running through my collection of hands, I found this one which had been given to me by our late friend Bill Huske. Bill commented that perhaps Mrs. Julius Daub of New York, who played the hand, was a little optimistic in her jump to three no trump, but she gave it nice delivery on the play.

The opening lead was won with the ace of clubs and Mrs. Daub immediately led the jack of diamonds. North won with the queen and led the jack or spades, which declarer won with the queen. North won the four of diamonds with the king and led back another spade. Mrs. Daub won and cashed the king of clubs; when North discarded the deuce of diamonds, she had a perfect count on the North hand.

Declarer cashed her other high club and the high spade, then led the three of diamonds. There was nothing North could do but cash the ace of diamonds and his high spade. He was then forced to lead hearts, so Mrs. Daub did not have to lose a heart trick.

Construction Crew Has Spotlight In Play Preparations

There is something less than sanely in the last-minute rehearsals for any theatrical production, and the Warren Players' "Blithe Spirit" proves brilliantly, to be no exception to this tradition.

Last night, for example, saw the cast of "Blithe Spirit" temporarily relegated to the floor of the Woman's Club auditorium while the stage itself was surrendered to the construction crew, a group of business executives, office workers, and plain citizens who, instead of appearing weary after a normal complement of labor at their daytime jobs, were hammering happily away at this avocational chore.

The near-frenzy which the harassed players were trying to control as they shouted their lines above the noise of the hammers seemed quite understandable—especially in the scene of the play's seance, when the players were scheduled to pause for a spiritualistic rap on the table and were rewarded instead with a thunderous crash as the stage crew dropped what sounded like a truckload of lumber. Less easy to explain, however, was the concentration with which the pseudo-carpenters kept at their task in the face of the attention-holding rehearsal which was going on below them.

The sparkle of Noel Coward's sophisticated lines could not easily be ignored, and the skill with which the Warren Players were interpreting their roles should have distracted the most calloused stagehands.

There were Eleanor Conarro, Jr. and Patricia Smith Cochran (who have the profiles to crash Hollywood and the talent to play Broadway) living up to all the promise they showed in "Nine Girls". There was their mutual husband, the enviable role played excellently by the versatile Jack MacDonald. Virginia Billstone was hardly less commanding as Madam Arcati, the modern type of medium who goes about her spiritualism with equal dashes of sarcasm, eccentricity, and earnestness. Lewis Critelle, Sylvia Lawson, and Jo Russo play their role with a correspondingly high level of native talent, polished to an exact degree of perfection by the careful direction of Margaret Wright and Meredith Jones.

The observer of this rehearsal would say that the expected rush on the box office will be highly justified. Orders for seat reservations are still being accepted by mail. The box office opens on Monday from 7 to 9 p. m. and will be open on the same hours on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday and Friday, the nights of the play, box office hours will be from 7:30 to 8:30.

Special Services In Grace Methodist

"Unsuspected Germs of Sin" is the theme to be presented by Pastor Harold Knappenberger at the Sunday morning service in Grace Methodist church. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Jack, will sing "Let Mount Zion Rejoice" by Herbert. Mrs. Edward Place will be at the organ and Mrs. Warren Lowe at the piano. At the evening service, the sermon subject is "Life's Testings—The Story of Gideon." A ladies' quartet will sing "Tis the Old, Old Story of His Love" by Wilson.

The Grace church prayer circles will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the following homes: C. W. Swanson, 104 Alexander street; Ray Almendinger, 202 Redwood street; S. H. Loding, 321 Prospect street; C. Y. Canby, 105 North Irvine street; Miss Lottie Carnahan, 906 Madison avenue; I. G. Darling, 511 East street; David Miller, 204 Onondaga avenue.

Successful Institute Is Held At Union City

Rev. Ralph Richardson, dean of the midwinter institute held by Meadville District Methodist Youth Fellowships at First church in Union City February 8-9, reports registration of 250 young people.

Faculty for the institute included Rev. Arthur M. Crawford, Asbury; Rev. Charles S. Aldrich, North East; Rev. Kenneth B. Liningner, Pleasantville; Rev. Ralph E. Tidmarsh, executive secretary; Mrs. A. H. Kemp, wife of Medical Missionary Kemp on furlough from Africa; Miss Eva McCurdy, secretary to Dr. T. E. Colley at First church, Erie; Rev. Roy R. Decker, Grace church, Meadville; Rev. Arthur Kirk, Townsville; Rev. M. E. Lindstrom, Cascade Methodist, Erie; Rev. Walter E. Warner, Cochranston.

Erie Bishop Endorses Study of the Scriptures

To help promote meditation on the Holy Scriptures to attain serenity amidst tribulations of the world, the sponsorship of Biblical Sunday, February 17, by the Catholic Biblical Association of America is endorsed by the Most Rev. John Mark Gannon, bishop of the Erie Diocese.

Bishop Gannon has urged pastors of the diocese to benefit themselves of the services of the association in making the Word of God better known by their parishioners on Septuagesima Sunday.

Church Notes

A new Cathedral Film, "No Greater Power," will be shown in Trinity Memorial chapel at 9:45 a. m. Sunday, the regular church school period.

"Your Whole Day For God" is the topic chosen by Rev. Hans Pearson for his Sunday morning sermons at Sheffield and Ludlow.

Special events in these parishes are announced as follows: Bethany—New Men's Bible Class to be started Sunday morning with Norman Henry as teacher, all men invited; Tuesday, 8 p. m., Young Women's Missionary Society; Thursday, 2:30 p. m., Ladies' Aid Society at the church, and 8 p. m., Luther League; Saturday, 10 p. m., confirmation instruction; Moriah—Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., choir rehearsal, and 8 p. m., Lutheran Circle; Thursday, 7 p. m., board of administration at the church, and 8 p. m., Lutheran Brotherhood at the home of Walter Cox; Thursday, 4:15 p. m., confirmation instruction.

Dr. H. H. Barr will bring the message at the 11 a. m. service in First Baptist church on Sunday, also at the 7:30 p. m. gospel hour. The church choir, directed by Viola Lindmark, will sing at both services and Mrs. Clarence Swanson will be at the console. Church school convenes at 9:45 sharp and anyone not affiliated with another Sunday school is invited to study God's Word, the lesson to be "True to a Great Heritage." The Young People's Fellowship meets at 6:30 p. m. in the social room, and Wednesday evening prayer meeting is at 7:30 o'clock under the leadership of J. Mitchell.

Aide To Veterans

On Sunday, February 17, the head of the Veterans Guidance Center at Albright College in Reading, Dr. Milton G. Geil, is to be the speaker at the 10:45 a. m. service in Salem Evangelical church.

In the evening of the same day, he will address a mass meeting of Evangelicals of this area. In connection with this service he will conduct a special meeting for World War II veterans, explaining to them fully the opportunities and meaning of the GI Bill of Rights, and answering questions of the servicemen's relationship to that bill.

The United States Congress has selected five Veterans Guidance Centers in Pennsylvania: Albright College, Lehigh, Drexel, Temple, and the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Geil, head of the department of psychology at Albright, is also head of the center. During the war, at the request of the U. S. Army, he also headed the army training center maintained at Albright.

day morning, will have for his topic "The Temporal and the Eternal." In the evening at 7:30, his parishioners will attend a union meeting in Salem church, when Dr. Milton Geil, of Albright College, will be the speaker.

Announcing services in his rural Lutheran parishes, Rev. Earl W. Carlson calls attention to these events at Saron Lutheran: Monday, 7:00, Leadership Training Course; Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., Junior Luther League at the home of Sarah Jane and Carl Peterson; Thursday, 2:30 p. m., Ladies' Aid at the home of Mrs. George Peterson, and 8:00 p. m., Brotherhood at the church.

Rev. Harold C. Warren's sermon Sunday in First Presbyterian church will be "The Revised Standard Version of the New Testament." For the music, Jackson Barrell will play Agnus Dei by Bizet for the prelude; Light of God Within Us Shine by Humperdinck, sung by the Carol Choir for the anthem; Open Our Eyes by MacFarlane, sung by the Senior Choir for the offertory.

Inspector and Fire Chief Look Over Scene of "Y" Fire

Factory Inspector Gurney Ball and Fire Chief Charles Albaugh yesterday afternoon spent some time going over the scene of the YMCA fire. They carefully scanned the ruins of the building for evidence of how the fire could have originated. Wiring, etc., was checked and the men finally came to the conclusion that spontaneous combustion due to polishing rags, dust mops, etc., being stored there.

Inspector Ball also issued a warning to all residents of Warren and especially to business houses against the storing of dust mops, polishing rags and materials used in painting. He stated that heat generated in such material and that fires are readily started.

Much hard work was done in the YMCA building yesterday in an effort to get all water, etc., cleaned up so that quick repairs could be made and the building put into use. The is headquarters for hundreds of men and boys, also athletic teams, etc., while several clubs meet there. In an effort to get back on schedule Secretary Wagner is doing everything possible so that the building can be opened even while repairs are being made.

Fire Chief Albaugh yesterday took occasion to return thanks to former Fire Chief D. G. Kropf for aid at the fire. Mr. Kropf arrived soon after the alarm was turned in and aided the firemen in their early work in reaching the seat of the blaze.

Citizens generally feel proud of the work done by the firemen. There was a short time after the fire when the men of the crew reported the small handful of firemen worked like beavers. By their careful placing of fire lines where water could be brought to play on the fire valuable time was saved and the building undoubtedly saved. The quick response to the alarm proved just sufficient time to halt the fire.

Some of the minor equipment carried on the aerial truck proved most valuable in fighting a fire such as that of yesterday. The value of the paid department with its trained men once again proved its worth in the property served.

Four alarms were received yesterday and the firemen spent a busy day. Outside of the blaze at the YMCA the other calls amounted to but little. The first came at 5:55 a. m. when a transformer on a pole on Main avenue was ablaze; the second sent the crews to the YMCA; the third came last evening at 6:35 when firemen went to 108 Onondaga avenue where a pan on top of a furnace had gone dry and created much smoke. The last of the day came in at 10:42 from the Baker Dry Cleaning plant, 211 Third avenue. Smoke was found but no fire could be discovered.

The Fall Guy BY JOE BARRY

Chapter 10

THE little man with the pointed ears lay down the mallet with which he had been pounding the back of Rush's head and vaguely conscious thought began to come to him. With the functioning of his mental processes he put himself through a familiar routine. "My name is Rush Henry," he told himself. He tried to say it aloud, but the words wouldn't come. "I'm, I'm—where the hell am I?" He tried opening an eye. It was a mistake. The light touched off another explosion in the back of his head.

A far distant bell began to ring insistently. It continued to sound. He reached his hand up to the top of the colored wall which was also the side of his bed with a coverlet hanging over and pulled himself to a sitting position. It was a major victory. He also tried to clear his head, for after the first blinding burst of pain he was able to open both eyes and look about him. The sight of the ravaged room brought it all back to him. But something was missing. He thought slowly for a minute and remembered Hope. She must be gone, or else he was lying on her. He put down a tentative hand and felt the floor. The phone shrilled again and he made the supreme effort. He lifted the receiver gingerly to his ear.

"Hello," he said.

No answer. He essayed another hello, but it was cut in the middle by a click and Clarence's voice greeted him from the house switchboard.

"Are you there, Mr. Henry?"

"Yes," Rush said, although he wasn't too sure.

"Your party has hung up. They called twice and I thought you were there but I rang and rang and nobody answered so they hung up."

"I was asleep," Rush said, grinning a very sour grin.

"Maybe they'll call again."

"Maybe," Rush said, and hung up.

Much later, weaker but steadier as to mind and body, he disrobed and climbed under the shower. He let the boiling hot water stream down over his aching shoulders and lean body. Except for his eyes Rush might have been a well set up college athlete. His eyes were different. They were a lot older than his thirty-two years.

He felt a lot better and was just beginning to be mad. He also wondered about Hope and what had become of her. He was sure that she had been merely unconscious. He wondered then if she had left under her own power or had been helped.

The elevator took him to the ground floor of the apartment building and he walked over to the desk.

"Clarence, have there been any strangers coming downstairs in the last hour?"

"Yes, I believe there were, Mr. Henry."

"Well," Rush snapped.

"Now let's see. One of them was a young lady. She was a killer," Clarence described Hope's curves with his hands.

"Was she alone?"

"Oh yes. She just went out about a quarter of an hour ago."

"Was there anyone else?"

"There was the old guy."

"What old guy?"

"The old guy in the black suit. He looked kind of seedy. You know. Shaggy hair, black clothes, and a black string tie. I didn't see what he was—"

"Okay, Clarence. You don't have to see. How long ago did he leave?"

"About an hour ago. He came downstairs just a little while after you went up."

Rush had all he needed. He knew who had slugged him. All he didn't know was why. That was enough. He ignored the curious light in Clarence's eyes tokening a desire to ask a few questions himself.

"My apartment has been messed up a little, Clarence. Send the superintendent up to look it over and fix it up."

A CAB deposited him at the curb before his office building and he paid the driver. A glance up and down the street

Feb. 18. General games will include bridge, 500 and Chinese Checkers. Parties are being held in homes, with local members hostess.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Agnes Lynch who spoke on the recent get together of leaders of the W. S. C. S. in Pittsburgh, at the William Penn Hotel and gave some of the measures recommended by this group. Miss Lillian Murray of Corry accompanied Miss Lynch to the Youngville meeting as a guest. Pleasing refreshments were served by the committee.

BOY SCOUTS CELEBRATING
Youngville Boy Scouts are holding a banquet this Thursday evening in the United Brethren church basement dining room. Rev. Charles McIntyre of Buffalo, N. Y., will be the guest speaker. He is a former pastor of the local church. Gilbert Sanford, chairman of the Scout Committee will be the evening's toastmaster.

GARLAND
Garland friends of Miss Ella Davis are sorry to learn that she is critically ill at the home of her brother, Harry Davis in Pittsburgh. Miss Davis left her home here before the holidays and entered a Pittsburgh hospital for treatment but it is evident she hasn't gained physically as her many friends here had hoped.

Norman Taylor attended the funeral services for Edna Taylor recently held in a funeral home in Corry. He also served as one of the bearers. Mrs. Taylor was a former Garland resident. She had been in failing health for some time but died following a short illness in the Corry hospital. Sympathy is extended her family by Garland friends.

Mrs. E. Price made another trip to Erie for attention for her fractured ankle from which the cast has now been removed.

Mrs. Tom Repman and son are spending the weekend in Oil City visiting relatives.

Clifton Tresler, recently discharged from the service is enjoying a reunion with his wife, the former Fay Black and small daughter Linda.

Wave N. Carlson was well remembered by her family when she passed another milestone along life's highway on Feb. 2nd. Best wishes.

Jessie Tyler was well remembered by her friends on Jan. 31st the day of her birth. Mrs. Tyler and daughter Autumn Matych are spending the winter in their home at Pittsfield. Mrs. Taylor, unfortunately, has been ill in bed since before the holidays but graciously welcomed her friends with her usual charm and humor.

Another daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wentworth. They had hoped for a son as this makes five girls.

Gladys Fisk has been unable to teach this week because of illness.

shower party held for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eastman recently held at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Geo. Hannah at Torpedo.

With very few exceptions Garland's discharged veterans, had scarcely hung up their hats in their respective homes before they went to work in the Irwin Mfg. plant thus refusing like true soldiers, the government's unemployment check. Among them are Stanley and Walter Taidus, Edward Stec, Burnel Holmes and Mike Linvoy.

The old ground hog saw his shadow rather brightly on Feb. 2nd. January dealt us out the best winter weather we have experienced for years with many bright sunny days.

Moose to Sponsor Junior Baseball Club During Season

Warren, Youngsville, Glade, Sheffield and North Warren Proposed In Six-Team Circuit

By JOE GARDNER

Junior League Baseball in Warren County this coming summer is an assured fact. At a meeting held a few evenings ago plans were discussed for the formation of a six team circuit of teen-agers. It was suggested that teams be recruited from the West End, Times Square, Glade, Youngsville and Sheffield. Sponsors will be obtained by a committee of Booster Club members named for that purpose.

West-enders not over seventeen years of age will report to "Nick" Creola—Boys in the center of town contact "Red" Swanson—Glade youngsters get in touch with Harry "Rosey" Rosequist, while descendants of the famed Conewango club report to "Steve" O. C. Tritt. Sheffield boys contact Deputy Sheriff Secor—Youngsville Babe Ruths apply to Warren Kay and the North Warren sluggers confide their hopes to Grandpa "Judy" Jewell.

Clubs will be managed by older ball players and each will have a couple of foster dads with capable of driving the lads to ball fields scattered all over the county. Games will be played in the West End, Youngsville, Sheffield, North Warren and Russell Field. Finally as an reward of outstanding ability the best ball players of the entire league will be picked by judges and placed on one fast club sponsored by the Moose Lodge of Warren and will represent this town in competition with other Moose lodge clubs in the North West district of Pennsylvania.

The local Moose organization in financing a Junior league baseball club on such a scale has proven its deep interest in the youth of Warren county. One solid act such as this can go farther in solving the problems of Juvenile delinquency than reams of printed words from the pens of well intentioned social uplifters. The Moose lodge of Warren deserves a vote of thanks from every citizen of Warren county interested in the welfare of our youngsters.

Richest Derby In History Predicted

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 15.—(P)—Nominations for the 1946 running of the Kentucky Derby were pouring into Churchill Downs today, with the deadline set for midnight tonight.

Sam McMeekin, Downs secretary, said he thought derby nominees "might be running slightly ahead of last year" when 155 three-year-old colts, fillies and geldings were nominated for the last wartime turf classic here. The list will be announced in early March.

The added money for this, the seventy-second annual running of the Derby, has been raised from $75,000 to $100,000, making it the richest in its history. The actual cash value to the winner will not be known until the number of entries has been determined the day before the Derby.

Why are there three players for every major league job...

First, there's the regular performer coming back from the wars...

Next, there's the usual flow of graduates from the minors...

And then we have those GI Joes whose upward climb was postponed by the war...

Hogan, Byrd Tie For First at New Orleans

By KRIS KREEGER

New Orleans, Feb. 5.—(P)—Still swinging away at the pace they set in the Texas Open last week, little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and handsome Sam Byrd of Detroit, Mich., led the field into the second round of the $7,500 New Orleans Open Golf tournament here today.

Hogan and Byrd, with 71's, were the only players making 24 strokes who picked the 72 par in yesterday's first round over the long, flat City Park course. Fresh and chilling north winds blew most of the scores way up. For today, fair and slightly warmer weather with gentle to moderate winds was forecast.

The two leaders were continuing with the momentum they gained last week at San Antonio, when Hogan set a record 294 to win the Texas title and Byrd scooped through the last 36 holes in 129 strokes.

Myron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, defending champion and last year's leading money winner, shot a 36-37-73 to share the third-place slot with four others. With him at 73 were Dick Metz of Arkansas, Kansas; Jim Ferrier of Chicago; Henry Picard of Harrisburg, Pa., winner of the 1939 and 1941 tournaments here; and Virgil Schreve of White Plains, N. Y.

Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., was in the 74 bracket, with Clayton Heather of Charlotte, N. C., Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., Jimmy Hines of Chicago, and Craig Klein of New York, duration National Open champion, failed to finish the first round and said he was dropping out of the winter circuit because of his old back ailment.

Behind the Lines

State Game Commission

The State Game Commission, still involved in its attempt to halt a proposed merger of the game and fish departments in Pennsylvania, has launched a drive to prevent the beaver population from multiplying. Each trapper is permitted to take two beaver during the regular season, and although this number is comparatively small, high prices will probably bring a record catch. The commission estimates that at least 15,000 beaver have been trapped in the state since seasons were started in 1934.

Since the game commission is coordinating so efficiently, the joining of the fish and game groups would be somewhat foolish not that it would increase the efficiency of the state's work in fish and game work, but officials feel that a merger would save a lot of money. However, such a statement is much to the contrary, according to local sportsmen.

These Warren enthusiasts are much against any such moves and believe that the efficiency would decrease, if anything, and that the cost of maintaining one large department compared with keeping two smaller groups would be about the same.

Round And About

Meadville copped its first victory of 18 regularly scheduled contests Tuesday night when it downed Greenville, 39-28. Greenville boasts wins over both Cochranton and Oil City. Cochranton clinched the Elk County championship by edging Rocky Grove, 44-39, and thus may have the opportunity to meet the Section Two winner, probably Warren. Greenville ran its winning string to 17 out of 18 Tuesday by downing Clarion, 34-15. The Brookville outfit is the southern sectional winner of District Nine. Neil Simmons, Dragon guard, who graduated at mid-term, was invited to Carthage College, Illinois, to complete the regular season, but his draft status prevented any such gesture. Although teams have not been selected, fans are already seeking tickets to the PIAA state championship playoff, to be held March 30 in Convention Hall, Philadelphia.

The Selma Alabama, Iowa, of the Southern Lasso B. League, have announced a working agreement with Oil City of the Penn State League. Craig Bennett and Chuck Clawson, both local boys discharged from service, will train with Selma at Tallahassee, Florida. Bob Weadley, local tree surgeon, has spent considerable time in Florida during the past weeks salt water fishing. Bob is the skipper of "The Little Fox." Warren Field and Stream Club and Corry Rod and Gun Club members have united in the planned development of the big Spring Creek through the Clough farm as a special reservation for dry fly trout fishing. Clair Curtis, of Busti, who operates a fleet of school buses, is becoming a little concerned over the damage deer are doing to his property. It's not the plunder of land that I am disgusted with, says Curtis, but with in a period of three months I have killed two deer with my car. They just pop out onto the road, and there is little possibility of avoiding them. Dean Nelson, local cager who performs with Westminster College, tallied 24 points the other night to pace the Titans in a 55-53 win over Akron University. Sam Schettino, who officiated the Warren-Franklin contest with Clyde Moore, suffering a deep gash over his eye Tuesday night when he was accidentally hit by a player in the Curwensville-Brockway contest.

Louis Didn't Have to Kay Conn To Win Last Battle

By NED BROWN

NEA Staff Correspondent
New York, Feb. 15.—(NEA)—The New Golden Era of sports will be given its greatest impetus by the return meeting of Joe Louis and Billy Conn at Yankee Stadium, June 19.

The match is practically a cinch to attract more attention and draw more money than any previous engagement in athletic history.

Whether the fight will prove an explosive atomic bomb or a dismal dud remains to be seen—at perhaps 100 bucks a look from a ringside seat.

In prize fighting, a second edition frequently proves tame compared to the original.

In the first outing at the Polo Grounds, June 19, 1941, when both were at the peak of their fighting ability, Louis and Conn put up an exciting, ding-dong battle for 12 rounds.

The Pittsburgh Adonis was fighting savagely when the champion suddenly began pouring it on, knocking out Conn with only two seconds of the 13th to go.

Ever since that memorable night the legend has been spread that Conn was in the front by a mile at the end of the 12th round; that in the 13th he suited in to slug with Louis, and thus tossed away the title which was in his grasp.

The truth is that a tiring challenger had only a shade up to the knockout.

The popular fantasy that Conn was so far ahead that only the knockout saved Louis' championship is not borne out by the scoring of the officials.

This shows that Louis might well have won the decision.

Referee Eddie Josephs and judges Marty Monroe and Bill Healy were unanimous in giving the first two, the fifth and sixth rounds to Louis, the third and fourth to Conn. Healy gave the seventh to Louis, the other officials awarded it to Conn. All agreed Conn took the eighth, ninth, 11th and 12th, but Monroe called the 10th even.

If Conn had lasted two seconds longer, the scores would stood; referee, six rounds Louis, seven for Conn; Monroe for Louis, seven for Conn; Healy seven for Louis, six for Conn.

Thus, if Louis won the last rounds, which would appear a cinch after his spurt in the the respective scores would been 8 to 7 for Louis, 7 to 7 one even and 9 to 6 for L making him the winner under system of scoring by rounds then in vogue.

Following the first two rounds Louis boxed Conn. He was fighting Conn's style, and William the most of it.

Thus the tide of battle seemed back and forth until the when the challenger, by a gasp, furred, battered the champion about the head and sent reeling groggily to his corner if he had blind staggers. That was that the late Jack Black told the Brown Bomber: "Chay, you gotta knock him out to win."

Louis went after Conn with old jungle zest, and it was Billy, the Kid who was fighting Louis' style.

Following a couple of minutes Louis hurled a right to the Left, right and left followed crumpling blows, and a final splashed the challenger to the floor for the count.

In their dressing rooms, it Conn who showed the marks battle, with three cuts over under his right eye and under left. Louis appeared much fresher, showed only a puff in his left eye.

In the five years that will elapased between their meet Louis has grown older on wrong side. Conn has grown fier. Both have grown slower, some of their fighting edge fact, have gone back.

Because of Mike Jacobs' tious edict barring tune-up fights no one will be able to get accurate line on just how far off or both of the gladiators slipped during their enforced, nesses.

Both are handicapped by fat, but Louis at 32 should fight tougher to slough it off than at 28 years, eight months. Back in the not so old fighters had to prove themselves before going into battle.

Louis and Conn are like comers, following a five-year off.

We doubt that their coming counter will be as close and citing as their first, which Louis epitomized by asking manager, John Roxborough, descended the steps from the "How many cigars you low, John?"

Dragons Entertain Rockets In Final Home Game; Victory To Assure WHS Playoff Berth

Dragon basketball for 1945 and 1946 makes its final appearance here tonight, and another full house is anticipated as Joe Massa sends his title-bound Blue and White quintet against a fairly strong Titusville quintet on the Beatty hardwood at 8:30.

The Rocket aggregation, one of two teams who have been able to tally more than thirty points against the locals, held the towering Dragons to a 46-33 victory on their own hardwood three weeks ago, and they hope for an "on" night tonight.

A victory tonight for Joe Massa's students would assure them of at least a tie in the battle for District Ten, Section Two, honors, but a loss would upset the prognostications of the dopesters and knock the locals from the race unless they successfully passed Franklin on February 28.

Warren cage followers have not seen the local outfit suffer defeat on its home hardwood in eleven games to date this season, and the players are hopeful that they can maintain the clean slate this evening. The locals boast wins over both Bradford and Erie Tech, two of the state's top teams who performed here this season.

Massa will send his lineup onto the court tonight in fine condition. The team has enjoyed a week of rest since its Meadville win, with the exception of several light practice sessions. Last night, the entire squad went through routine drills.

Big Jack Eaton will aim to bolster his scoring total tonight at center; Al Babcock and Dick Harris will start at forwards; and Ray Reed and Jim Scallise will be at the guard slots. Gail Nelson, a freshman substitute is expected to see plenty of action.

In bowing out of the local scene, the Dragon youngsters leave behind them a very enviable record. So far, they have been defeated only once, but they avenged that win by beating Oil City, 31-22.

For the Rockets, Panas and Cox will open at the forward positions; Barber will be at the tip-off spot; and Dibble and Snyder will handle the defensive assignments. Panas is one of the league's high scorers and is only a junior. He also was high in scoring last season—his sophomore year.

The WarrenSecond team, undefeated this season by any of its out-of-town opponents, is favored to record victory No. 17 in a preliminary bout with the Titusville Jayvees at 7:30.
